Trial/Disease/Remedies....

Abstract of a trial of treatment by a homeopath for Fibromyalgia recently published in the Homeopath, journal of the Faculty of Homeopathy. The lead author is Dr Relton, the HRI's Head of Clinical Research. She also works at the School of Health and Related Research, University of Sheffield, and the School of Healthcare, University of Leeds.

This study was a pilot pragmatic Randomised Control Trial which looked at the provision of treatment by a homeopath alongside usual care for Fibromyalgia. It was shown to have clinical relevance and paves the way for a definitive study assessing the clinical and cost effectiveness of providing treatment by a homeopath for Fibromyalgia.

We also want to let you know that we are currently organising a fundraising event which will take place in London on 24th June. If you are interested in funding the work of the HRI and want to learn more about it, or know of people who are in a position to do so, then please contact us at info@homeoinst.org for details.

Traditional healers and medical schemes

There's grave concern about the lack of healthcare workers in South Africa. Yet we have a large base of traditional healers that could play a more prominent role – if certain hurdles can be overcome.

But an ever-increasing consumer demand for traditional, complementary and alternative medicine (T-CAM)* tells a different story. In 2006, South African consumers spent approximately R3 billion on traditional medicines and R4 billion on complementary and alternative medicines. Clearly, the South African public is readily embracing T-CAM products and services. <http://www.health24.com/natural/General/17-2898,51174.asp>

Final Thought....

Allopathy, Snake Oil and the Semmelweis Reflex

Recently, I found myself using the word Allopathic or Allopathy. When asked what it meant, I stumbled blindly towards the answer, "... a generalization of the standard practice of medicine."

The Semmelweis reflex or "Semmelweis effect" is a metaphor for the reflex-like rejection of new knowledge because it contradicts entrenched norms, beliefs or paradigms.
