FLIRTING WITH DISASTER

by Scott Tips, JD
January 4, 2009

With the best of intentions, some health-freedom groups in America are calling for the reform of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA). This is an excellent idea. Unfortunately, it could hardly be trumpeted at a worst time.

Revolt! Robbed of their right to buy traditional light bulbs, millions are clearing shelves of last supplies

But experts have questioned whether or not the new bulbs, far from being environmentally friendly, are actually harmful. The low-energy fluorescent bulbs can trigger skin rashes, migraines and epilepsy. There is also concern because the fluorescent bulbs contain mercury, which makes them dangerous to get rid of.

Generation X'd Out: An end to the human race as we've known it?

The term "Generation X-ray" refers to youth addicted to communicating and recreating with wireless devices—cell phones, PDAs, WiFi computers and music/gaming equipment. These wireless devices emit high-frequency microwave radiation, recently demonstrated by European researchers to efficiently inflict the same horrific damage on human cells as X-radiation.
